Graduation Exercises Climax School Year

Graduation 1957 will see more than 1,000 students and graduate students don caps and gowns Friday for the 82nd commencement exercises at Brigham Young University.

This week marks several events traditional to BYU graduation classes. Senior Breakfast, Baccalaureate service and Commencement exercises will climax the school year.

Start Saturday

Events for seniors started Saturday with a last look around campus on the senior trek. Speaker for the trek program was Dr. Stewart L. Grow who spoke on BYU history.

Saturday also saw seniors at the final dance of the year, "It Happens Every Spring," held in the Social Hall.

Monday is scheduled for commencement rehearsal for the graduates in the Fieldhouse at 4:30 p.m.

Baccalaureate services are planned for Thursday with Elder Marion G. Romney, member of the Council of the Twelve Apostles, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, offering the Baccalaureate sermon.

Annual Baccalaureate academic procession from the Maeser Building to Smith Fieldhouse will commence at 7 p.m. with the program starting at 7:30.

Breakfast Scheduled

Senior Breakfast is set for 7:30 a.m. Friday. Several meetings of the Alumni Association have been called for Friday. The annual President's Reception will host graduates, friends, members of the faculty, alumni and parents at 3 p.m. Friday. In case of rain the reception will be held in the Smith Building otherwise at the president's home.

Commencement exercises will begin Friday with the academic procession, made up of BYU Board of Trustees, faculty, alumni and graduates extending from the Maeser Building to the Smith Fieldhouse. Procession will start at 7 p.m. and exercises at 7:30.

Speaker for Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture leader, and Valedictorian William Larsen, English major, will address the graduating class, friends and honored guests.

Registrar Lucile Spencer announced 993 graduates would recieve bachelor degrees with the highest number being 281 given to those graduating from the colege of education.

Master degrees will be awarded to 47 according to the registrar.

Intercollegiate Knights Unit Donates Mural

Final administration approval was given Thursday to the Intercollegiate Knights, national men's service fraternity, on commissioning artist Eric Bransby of Colorado Springs, Colo., for a mural of Joseph Smith.

The noted muralist was selected from among many eminent artists who submitted sketches of the Prophet. He has studied under such noted artists as Boardman Robinson and Jean Charlot.

He taught classes at Yale University and the University of Wisconsin. For Brigham Young University he was a guest lecturer during summer school. Currently he is working on a large mural for the United States Air Force.

Committee Named

The committee, consisting of Raymond E. Beckham, secretary of the Alumnal Association, and advisor to Intercollegiate Knights; Professor Conan E. Mathews, chairman of the art department; Professor Roman Andrus, art department; Dr. T. Earl Pardoe, professor of speech; Dr. West Belnap, director of the Undergraduate Division of Religion; and Laven Boyenger, IK Project Chairman and Honorable Duke, have been working on the project the entire year.

Visited Campus

Bransby recently visited campus to confer with the committee and they feel he will produce an outstanding mural truly interpretive of Joseph Smith and his life, according to Boyenger.

The entire project will cost the Intercollegiate Knights approximately $1,000.

The seven by nine feet mural will be mounted to the south wall of the stair case in the lobby of the Smith Building.

TO DO PAINTING—Laven Boyenger inspects the drawing being used as a guide for the mural to be painted by Eric Bransby for the Intercollegiate Knights painting to be completed by the group to Brigham Young University next fall.

Summer Convocation the final day. The first Summer School term will end July 12, the second one will begin July 15.

Besides the many institutes, festivals, recreational and cultural activities augmenting the summer curriculum, many special tours are scheduled throughout the world, Dean Reid reported.

For additional information about Summer School workshops, festivals, faculty and recreational events, see pages 4 and 5.

The University has ample residence hall accommodations for all single men and women students who desire them for summer quarter, and food service will be available at Joseph Smith Cafeteria and the Cougeat, Dean Reid said.

To Students Seeking Employment . . .

Writer Gives Pointers For Jobs

by Roland Hinkson

Next week thousands of Brigham Young University students will be fanning out all over the country in search of summer employment.

Want a job but don't know where to get one? Keith Duffin, director of BYU Placement Bureau, indicated that the majority of "Cougars" desiring summer work have jobs "in the bag" already. But if you don't know where you can render your mercenary service, don't despair.

Let's see if we can drum up a few ideas.

Try to be somewhat scientific with this task.

Questions Listed

First, ask such personal questions as (1) What am I interested in and able to do? (2) How hard do I want to work? (3) How much money do I need to earn? And (4) where am I willing to go to work?

After answering these questions, there is a rough framework with which to start.

Second, don't sit and expect divine inspiration to lead you to the job. Remember the old saying goes—"The Lord helps those who help themselves."

If your prime interest is money, and you are willing to go anywhere—that is, almost anywhere—why not grab the classified sections of metropolitan newspapers and scrutinize them. You can find copies in the Provo Public Library or Journalism reading room

Service Helps

Check with the state employment offices—there are branches in any large city—and maybe consider the private agencies—some are free.

If still unemployed after you have answered all the acceptable classified job ads, then maybe you ought to start canvassing all the potential employers you could feasibly work for.

The third thing you might double check is grooming.

Look sharp and make a good impression. Don't drag into the personnel office with your hands stuffed into the pockets of your faded levis and a frown on your unshaven face

Val Hyric Unit Wins Trophy For Activities

Val Hyric Men's Social Unit won the Supremacy Trophy awarded each year by the Associated Men Students, reports Reed Blake, AMS president.

The trophy goes to the men's organization on campus amassing the most points in per ticipatives and service projects, both to the school and community.

In addition to supporting school pep activities the Val Hyrics took programs to the mental hospital, went Christmas caroling and cleaned out the Engineering building

Last year Athenian social unit retired the AMS trophy after winning it three consecutive years.

Universe Meet Set Monday Evening

Monday's issue of the Daily Universe will be the final carrier issue produced by the staff. A special issue Tuesday will be published by Journalism 122 editor's workshop class.

The first Summer School edition will be issued June 18, according to Dr. Oliver R. Smith, director of publications.

According to Daily Universe Editor Mark Murphy, all staff members are asked to attend the final staff meeting of the year Monday, 4:30 p. m., 160 Clark Student Service Center.

Engineering Prof. Goes To Vietnam

D. Allan Firmage, assistant professor of civil engineering has received two years' leave of absence from Brigham Young University.

Prof. Firmage has gained an assignment in Viet Nam, Indo China on the advisory group for the design of highways and bridges.

With his family, Prof Firmage will leave for Siam June 4.

Many BYU students will be heading for the national parks and other resort areas for jobs secured earlier in the year—maybe there are still a few possibilities there.

Jobs Available

Service station managers will be looking for additional help for the summer rush.

Women, if you can type, why not contact office-service companies. These companies temporarily rent persons to sundry businesses for short intervals; they pay about $1.50 per hour and up.

Many colleges and universities let out after Brigham Young University does, therefore, you have the edge on many competing aspirants.

Employment counselor Duffin offers incredulous students real hope in these encouraging words: "There are more summer job opportunities for students this year than ever before."

Be smart. Look sharp, and don't leave job finding to chance—success is usually the befellow of the proficient

Delta Phi Chorus Slates Jaunt To Eastern, Mid-West States

This year's annual "Delta Phi Chorus and Variety Show" will leave for an Eastern tour June 1 at 4:30 a. m. First stop will be Ft. Collins, Colo., the same day, and the final curtain will fall at Columbus, Ohio, on June 17.

Talent Listed

In addition to the chorus of 20 former missionaries, the roster of talent includes Roy Baumgart, ventriloquist, Verland Whipple deadpan-comedian; Y's Quartet, Manuelles, VIK label recording artists, Y-O-Lins, female violinist group; Marcene Jardine, vocalist; and emcee-faculty advisor Bryan Renstrom

Past tours have had many interesting and unexpected things happen, among them the signing of the Manuelles (then the Sophomores to an RCA Victor recording contract, the baptism of two Paintsville, Ky converts as the result of a street meeting there in 1953, and the jet ride of a late-rising singer.

The latter happened when the singer awoke after spending the night at a Nashville, Tenn., Air Force base, to find the Delta Phi bus on its way to Oak Ridge without him.

Takes Cab

Obligingly, an Air Force flew him 150 miles to Knoxville, Tenn., and Delta Phi "Wrong-way Corrigan" took cab to nearby Oak Ridge Nat'les to say, there were more than a few surprised faces when the bus finally arrived.

Education Courses Schedule Varied Summer Subjects

The Education Department plans to offer a full program of undergraduate courses in summer school with the exception of student teaching, according to Sterling C. Callahan, department chairman.

There will be 25 courses in education offered during the first term of summer quarter which begins June 11, and 24 courses are planned for the second term beginning July 15.

Dr. Callahan says that most of the regular faculty members will be teaching summer quarter, and in addition there will be visiting instructors. Among the visitors is Gertrude Noar, who is National Director of the Department of Education.

Besides these classes, there will be several courses in graduate study in the curriculum. Some of these include creative arts in the elementary school, social studies in the elementary school, audio-visual materials and procedures, the high school curriculum, directing out-of-class activities, and radio and television in education.

Cougars Grab 2nd, 4th In Golf, Tennis

Brigham Young University's tennis team grabbed second place in the Skyline Conference net meet held in Logan Saturday. The same day a wind-blown Cougar golf squad failed in a bid for the conference links title at Fort Collins, Colo., placing fourth.

Utah Repeats

University of Utah's defending champion tennis crew repeated by edging the Cat netters 14-13. New Mexico had eight, Wyoming and Utah State grabbed three points, Colorado State University (Colorado A&M) tied Denver with one while Montana failed to score.

Wilmer Lee of BYU took the No. 4 singles, defeating Dick Marshall, Utah, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

Stan Collins and Jud Flower edged Utah's Parkin and Marshall, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, gaining the No 2 doubles crown for BYU.

New Mexico's undefeated freshman Jack Kennedy won the No. 1 singles by blasting John Doidge, Utah, 6-1, 6-2.

The Lobos of New Mexico walked away with the golf title held by BYU last year. The Lobos finished the two-day, 36-hole meet with an aggregate stroke total of 602 for their four-man team.

Ags Second

Colorado State University's foursome took second by a comfortable margin with 615 strokes. The Aggies were definitely trailed by Utah win 633, Brigham Young with 637, Denver 638, Utah State 659, Wyoming 658 and Montana 681.

Herb Wimberly, New Mexico ace, took medalist honors with a 71-76-147 total. Bob Lee of Utah won a one-hole playoff with New Mexico's Jim Breen for the runner-up spot after both finished with 150.

John Geersten led BYU with a 77-78-155.

Gone Johns Squeak Past Hawaiians In Volleyball

Gone Johns won the annual Brigham Young University Intramural Volleyball Tournament by beating the Hawaiian Club, defending champions, 15-3 in the rubber of a three-game series.

Review Of Sports Year At BYU Shows Hits With Fine Record, Bright Future

The end of another year of athletics at Brigham Young University prompts us to make a brief evaluation and overview of the Cougars' "Year in Sports."

Varsity teams were contenders for the Mountain States Athletic Conference crown in every sport but football.

Cage Championship Highlights Season

Highlight of the year was Stan Watts' cagers winning the Skyline Championship. The "experts" were unusually pessimistic as BYU's basketball chances for the '56-57 season. Watts himself was not optimistic about the Cougars' ability to cope in a rigorous schedule.

The dynamic hoop coach took what was left of a graduation-depleted team that was disappointing the year before and molded it into one of the finest basketball outfits in BYU's history.

The spirited Cougars dabbled up a schedule that included some of the nation's best teams, beating such touted fives as Washington, Ohio State, St. Mary's, St. Johns and Idaho State.

Watts received unanimous balloting for Coach of the Year, appreciative Provo fans presenting a new automobile to the amiable cage mentor at the close of the season.

Tom Steinke, who had awed fans everywhere he went with sensational long shooting, walked off with a flock of honors, all scoring and rebounding ace, John Benson.

BYU has made a fine basketball reputation over the years. The team had done more to familiarize the world with the university than any other single factor. In addition, BYU's basketers do a great missionary service for the Latter-day Saint church.

Another Track Championship

Clarence Robison, the unassuming track coach, had one of finest teams. Probably few colleges in the nation could boast overall versatility and depth that BYU had.

The undaunted Cougar thinclads waltzed to five straight dual wins and had completely dominated all Skyline competition at writing.

Wrestling, either a forgotten or never-known-about sport at BYU, made considerable strides in 1957. New coach Allan Lewis added a green group of sophomore and junior grapplers a surprisingly successful 4-3 record.

Another new coach at BYU, Jay Van Noy, former professional baseball player in the Major Leagues and Triple-A, guided the Cougars to a 6-6 baseball season. But the record is misleading as it was a single game away from winning the Western Division of Utah State edged the Cougars 3-1 in the final Division game of the season.

Close Second in Baseball

Two weeks before the rain-riddled season closed, the Brigham Young team was limping along with Montana in last place. But the Cats suddenly became human by sweeping a doubleheader from Montana and whupping Utah State 3-2 to gain a tie with the Farmers for the lead. Norm Christiansen at third, Cornell Taylor in center field and Owen Skousen on the mound were among BYU standouts.

Coach Fred (Buck) Dixon's golfers won five conference duals before losing to Utah State. The Cougar team won a half the linksters competing in Colorado. This year's golf team is one of the finest in BYU history, the Cougars being the favorites when defending champions.

Dixon's tennis men rebounded to whip Utah's invincible team 4-3 after rocking Utah State 5-0. The Cougar racquette swingers were clearly the second best team in the Western division.

BYU's rodeo crew, a relatively unknown and certainly undubbed "sod-mule team," emerged as one of the best in the country. The Cougar cowboys won regional meets in Wyoming Logan before entering national competition.

Now we can come back to football. It's true that BYU was again a "weak sister" in the grid sport. But, since the pigskin sport at BYU was virtually dead a couple of years ago, Cougar followers witnessed what will prove to be the beginning of BYU's football resurrection.

Under the expert care of Harold Kopp, the confident new coach who maintains that "you can't plow without the horses," succeeded in plowing under New Mexico and Air Force Academy — the left-overs of horses who could hardly even walk—much plow—the year before.

Kopp let his critics know he meant business when he guided fired-up Cougars to a 6-7 moral victory against Wyoming conference winners, who were ranked tenth nationally at the time. The punchy Cowboys, who were favored by four touchdowns, had the field beaten in every department except the score.
